Re: MSA Staff Changes

We are pleased to welcome two new additions to the MSA team:

Angela Bentley joins us as an Intern. She has spent many years studying topics related to health, the environment and agriculture. Her most recent post-secondary adventures include completing the requirements for both an undergraduate and a graduate degree in agricultural and resource economics at the University of Alberta.

James Conville returns as an Intern, following his experience as Summer Student with the MSA analyzing trends in the retail electricity market. James is a recent graduate of the University of Calgary with an honours degree in economics, where he developed his interests in the topics of industrial organization and auction design.
